

Cuerva obtains the Innovative SME Seal awarded by the Ministry of Science and Innovation.

The Innovative SME Seal recognises those companies most committed to innovation, development and research.

Grenade, 22/01/2024. Cuerva, an energy company with more than 80 years of experience in its sector, has been awarded with the Innovative SME Seal. This recognition is granted by the Ministry of Science and Innovation to companies that stand out, as their name suggests, for their innovative nature and their commitment to R&D&I.

This certificate recognises the company's efforts in constant investment in key areas of R&D&I, which has allowed it not only to improve the efficiency of its production processes, but also to open up to new markets both nationally and internationally. Through its focus on innovation, the company has managed to optimise its products and services, which has resulted in a positive impact on its economic growth and competitiveness.

Commitment to and benefits from innovation and sustainability

Obtaining the Innovative SME Seal entails a series of significant benefits for Cuerva, among which the following stand out:

1. Distinction as an innovative company: This recognition positions Cuerva as a leader in innovation within the energy sector.
2. Tax benefits: Investment in R&D&I allows the company to access tax benefits that optimise its resources in the short term.
3. Access to public funding: The seal facilitates access to new sources of funding for innovation projects, contributing to the development of new lines of business.

This distinction reaffirms the company's commitment to sustainability and long-term growth, two essential pillars in today's energy sector.

In addition to this certification, the company has other certifications such as ISO 14001:2015, ISO 9001:2015, ISO 45001:2018 or ISO 50001:2018, which proves and reinforces the quality of the work done in its service areas, as well as its commitment to the environment.
